

ISOLAB's new product line: "ISOLAB Chemicals"

Wertheim, Germany: ISOLAB Laborgeräte GmbH, a scientific product supplier company, has launched new product line: ISOLAB Chemicals. After launching the product line in a few planned pilot regions the company has received very good feedbacks from both retailers and end users.

After achieving a stand out success in pilot regions, ISOLAB is expected to release chemical product line worldwide very soon.

The company forecasts that the distribution of the new product line will take approximately 1-2 years all over the globe. That means scientists and professionals will be available to find ISOLAB Chemicals from their local dealers and distributors soon.

About ISOLAB Laborgeräte GmbH: ISOLAB is a scientific products supplier company based in Wertheim, Germany. Founded in 1996 and started its adventure by producing laboratory glassware with excellent quality for professionals. From the starting day on the company has enriched its product line with general labwares, disposable products and a couple years ago finally with laboratory instruments. Together with major product line additions ISOLAB also makes product line extensions in accordance with the demand in the market, so ISOLAB can stay up to date for more than 20 years. And this is key success for the company to be preference of thousands of scientists almost 90 countries all over the world.

